OREGON.

A fine horse died of epizooty at Roseburg last week.

Two lines of coaches are to run from Roseburg to Coos Bay.

The finishing touches are being put on the new Court House at Salem.

No money in the city treasury at Salem, according to the Mercury.

Hon. David Bushey has gone to Coos Bay to take charge of the Collectorship.

The Coos Bay road is said to be in a bad condition, though workmen are busy at work repairing it.

Dr. Odell, of Eugene, goes to Klamath shortly to take the place of physician of the Klamath Agency.

The farmers in Washington county say that "if it had rained a little more everything would have been lovely."

Hillsboro is improving fast, four more houses are being erected, while fencing and sidewalks have become a mania.

A son of Mr. Wiley Sparks, near Eugene, has been missing several days, and his friends are feeling uneasy about him.

The present Court docket is said to be the longest ever known in Douglas county. It comprises many cases of importance.

The amount of interest on the Irreducible School Fund reported by the Treasurer of Lane county for distribution is $2,473 15.

Levi Leland has organized lodges of Good Templars at Fall Creek and Lost Valley in Lane county, and will organize four or five more lodges in the county.

A man nicknamed Santa Fe Bob is in jail at Baker City, charged with robbing the trunk of the man Homer, who was found murdered near that place some days ago.

There were so many passengers for Corvallis last Friday that the large four-horse coach, used last summer, had to be brought into requisition to convey them from Albany.

Work is soon to be commenced on the road from Green's shop, near Roseburg, to Wilbur, for which the Legislature made an appropriation at the last session of $15,000.

The Sheriff of Douglas county has brought to the penitentiary two convicted felons; one Rice for rape, ten years, and one Brown for an attempt to commit rape, for one year.

The grain and hay crops in Polk county, from their present appearance, promise an unusually abundant harvest, money is tight, and there is general good health and feeling.

President Warren, of Albany Collegiate Institute, has accepted the invitation to deliver the annual address before the Hesperian Society of Monmouth College, on June 19th.

Under the ministrations of Rev. Mr. Chattin, of the M. E. Church the Indians on the Siletz reserve are rapidly becoming evangelized. Numbers take professions every Sunday.

Horse traders from Nevada are now at Harrisburg purchasing horses. The epizootic in that State has thinned out the stock, and hence the appearance of the traders in Oregon.

Mr. D. B. Rea has shown the Sentinel a rich nugget of gold taken out of his mining claim on Brush creek, in the western part of Jackson county, weighing six ounces, and worth $110.

Some person entered the Good Templars' Lodge room at Hillsboro, a night or two ago, and broke up the charter and some glasses. The charter was nicely framed, and cost somewhere in the neighborhood $15.

The officers of the Clatsop Farmers' Club are: President, S. Russell; Vice President, R. W. Morrison; Secretary, Jeff. Morrison; Assistant Secretary, S. D. Adair. Time of meeting, second Saturday in each month.

The Rock Point Farmer's Club in Marion county is prospering and numbers 45 live and active members. At the last meeting the Secretary was instructed to invite Rev. Thos. Condon to lecture before the Club at some convenient time.

Miss Huntley, whose parents reside on the Umpqua, about 25 miles from Roseburg, left home two weeks ago, and though diligent search has been made, no clue to her whereabouts has been obtained. Naturally, her friends are in great distress concerning her.

The search for the body of Tharp, supposed drowned in the Santiam a couple of weeks since, has thus far proved unavailing. The brother of the missing man desires that if a body should be found floating either in the Santiam or Wallamet, notice may be given him at Scio.

About sixty volunteers are already in the field under Captain Hyzer, and a company, to consist of forty-five men, is being raised in the Lake Basin, which will make in all about 150 volunteers enlisted and equipped by the State of Oregon for the protection of the settlers in the Modoc region.

On Saturday last the County Treasurer of Washington county, received from Salem $1,215 75 coin and $490 30 currency, being the interest on the School Funds in the control of the State Board. Since the March apportionment, about $500 coin has been received into the Treasury from county sources.

The following are the officers elected by the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., which was in session at the Dalles during last week: A. J. Marshall, Grand Master; L. P. Higby, Deputy Grand Master; H. G. Struve, Grand Warden; C. N. Terry, Grand Secretary; I. R. Moores, Grand Treasurer; A. L. Stinson, Grand Representative.

In the Circuit Court at Dallas last week the action brought against A. H. Whitley, for $20,000 damages, for assaulting Glaze, a change of venue was denied and the case set down for trial at this term. Fred Waymire was tried for assault with a dangerous weapon and convicted. The case of Lewis vs. Lewis, which has been twice to the Supreme Court, was tried and judgment rendered for plaintiff.

Mr. Philip Low, of Linn county, is canvassing for subscriptions of stock in the company lately formed for building warehouses at Astoria, and will be at Eugene City on Tuesday, May 27th; Corvallis, Wednesday, May 28th; Albany, Thursday, May 29th; Monmouth, Friday, May 30th; and at Salem, Saturday, May 31st. Those who desire to take stock in the enterprise can have an opportunity to do so, by meeting Mr. Low at the times and places above mentioned.

At a meeting of the wool growers of Douglas county, on the 17th inst., the Secretaries were requested to prepare a call to be signed by the wool growers assembled, and that the same be published, the object being for the permanent organization of the wool growers of Douglas county, on Saturday, May 31, 1873, at which time each and every wool growers in the county is requested to be present, as matters of great interest to their welfare will be acted upon.

The Progressionist says: The parties appointed to survey and locate the wagon road from Cornelius to Astoria, have so far located about 30 miles of the road. There is about 30 miles more to be located. This party started from Cornelius on the 8th of April, and in forty days have located 30 miles of road. It is therefore inferred that it will take forty days more to finish the survey. The expense of this party is over $35 per day. Hence, the cost of the survey will be over $2,800.

The Benton Democrat says the young man White, confined in the county jail for horse stealing, after making his escape and being recaptured, was ironed lightly. He succeeded in getting a handcuff off, and was very impudent to the Sheriff, who manacled his legs. These he also discarded, remarking that he had been in worse places than our county jail. Sheriff Palmer has put heavier irons on him now, and will endeavor to keep him until court meets. He seems to be a reckless fellow, though yet a beardless boy.

The Dalles Mountaineer of the 24th says: Mr. Marsh French returned a few days ago from a trip to his cattle ranch, situated on a small stream putting into the John Day river, about 130 miles from this city. He reports that he found the grass excellent all over the country he passed through, and the live stock in many localities rolling fat. Some of the settlers on the John Day river were a little "scared" about the Indians, but as far as he could learn there was no cause whatever to warrant the people in leaving their homes.

A letter in the Albany Democrat, from Ochoco valley, says the prospects of grain are flattering. The meadow lands are better than usual, owing to the rainy weather. Beaver Creek settlers have all moved into Ochoco till the "war is over." Several new houses, one a store, are being built in Prine City. Had preaching! Don't smile; that is an item here. I observed two acquaintances meet the other day. One of the parties doesn't live here, so he inquired of his friend—"How's times?" and the emphatic answer was, "Bully! we've had preaching."

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: "The unfortunate men who were buried by a caving bank on Sutter Creek, mention of which was made last week, were dug out, but not in time to save their lives. Johnson was badly crushed and lacerated, and was the first one found, his body having been recovered some two or three days before that of his companion. Casey, when found, was holding a board above his head, and standing upright with his back against the drift. He was not mangled or bruised, and looked as natural as if alive, having evidently perished from suffocation."

THE TERRITORIES.

Hon. O. B. McFadden was serenaded at Vancouver.

Rev. A. S. Nicholson's connection with the Vancouver Register has ceased.

Hon. H. C. Street, a well known Idahoan, is editing the Virginia (Nev.) Chronicle.

The wife of Hon. D. L. Russell, of Clarke county, W. T., died at her residence on the 20th inst.

A little boy named Preston, at Vancouver, was kicked and had his thigh bone broken by a mule last week.

The Register says a vessel has been chartered at New York to leave in a few days with merchandise direct for Vancouver.

The Argus says Port Townsend has gone wild on the ball question. Three dances are announced for the Fourth of July, and music for all engaged.

Wool-buyers are perambulating among the farmers of Washington Territory and offering to buy the spring clip. Prices at present are too low.

The Steilacoom Express says the business in town and county is getting livelier and better, and all our merchants are just now laying in large stocks.

For the week ending May 10th the assay of gold at the office of C. W. Moore & Co., at Lewiston, was 1,618 and 68-100ths ounces, valued at $25,086 75.

Jackson Pence, of Vancouver, has gone to Steilacoom to reside for 18 months. The Judge told him to go and the Sheriff took him. His headquarters will be at the hotel de cross-bars.

Abe Randolf and Harry Beadle took French leave from Silver City, I. T., for Winnemucca last week, leaving sundry unsettled bills behind them, among which is one of $150 for board at the Idaho Hotel.

Thos. Hood, of Steilacoom, met with a streak of bad luck last week, among other things having one of his best work oxen killed by a tree, and losing several thousand feet of lumber from a raft of logs.

The Transcript says: On the Puyallup the Indians are extremely insolent, talk of war, and are evidently preparing for it. They do not care to work for the whites, except for money and guns. Of guns and ammunition they are buying all they can.

Angus McCullough was frozen to death about the night of the 23d day of January, 1873, when eight miles from the mouth of the Stickeen river, Alaska Territory, while on his way to the new gold diggings on the Laird river. The whereabouts of his family will be thankfully received by the Deputy Collector at Wrangell Island.

The Olympia Courier of the 23d says: Some twenty-five or thirty individuals came in from across the country last night, direct from the Eastern States. All of them have come here intending to make the Territory their home, and most of them went down the Sound this morning in search of claims or places on which to locate themselves.

A subscriber in the Wallowa valley, writing us under date of the 17th inst., says: "Yesterday all the families in the upper part of the valley went out, and those that remained, twenty-three in number, held a meeting and resolved to stay and prepare for a defense against the Indians, should they attempt to drive us out. We have seen no Indians here as yet, but we know that they were decidedly averse to having this valley settled by the whites, and we think it is well enough to bring on the issue and have the question determined."

Over at La Conner, in Washington Territory, they have a bar attached to the La Kirby House, the license of which expired on May 1st. The proprietor went for a renewal of license; Pleasant Lodge sent in a remonstrance. Lodge came out ahead. Landlord of La Kirby House doubled on them, brought his petition back from county seat and got the ladies of La Conner to sign it; took passage back to county seat between dark and daylight, whilst the Lodge slept, and lo! he got his license. Now, there is war. On the sign board of the La Kirby House is written a notice, "Hereafter positively no credit to any member or members of the Pleasant Lodge."

The Olympia Tribune says: During the last week three or four hundred Indians, of the Chehalis, Humptulup and other contiguous tribes, have been marrying a young chief and his love on Gray's Harbor, and great times have there been in consequence. They have all swapped clothing, given presents, ate, drank, danced and gambled together in regular old time Indian style. After a week of sports, exercises and exhibitions, it was supposed that the couple would be well married, and would be allowed to go alone on their own little honey-moon, the assemblage breaking up and returning to their respective places of abode. This wedding it was—an event purely of love, peace, happiness and good will—that gave rise to the rumors of Indian war in the Chehalis valley, and caused a few timid new settlers to gather their families, pick up their household effects and decamp.

Rev. Mr. Ancient, the preacher-hero of the Atlantic disaster, has accepted a call to Halifax.

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 25.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Indications of a General Indian War.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—A dispatch at the War Department from General Custar, dated Fort Randall, Dakota Territory, May 14th, contains the following: "Fall is a guide sent me from Randall. He reports positively that 300 warriors, young men belonging to the Yankton Agency, left their reservation a few days ago to join the hostile Indians of the Upper Missouri, and that the Indians will muster 5,000 warriors in the field this summer."

Brilliant Victory over the Indians on the Mexican Border.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Secretary of War has received a telegram from General Sheridan, at Chicago, in relation to the raid of Colonel McKenzie on the camp of the Kickapoo and Lipton Indians, on the 18th, about eighty miles from Fort Clark, Texas. The Indian loss was nineteen killed and two wounded, and the former Chief of the Liptons and forty-one women and children were captured, besides two villages destroyed. Colonel McKenzie's loss was three men wounded, one mortally. The dispatch says nothing about the fight taking place on Mexican territory.

LATER.—NEW ORLEANS, May 23.—The Picayune's Austin special says that intelligence from Fort Clark on the 20th, via San Antonio, 22d, reports that McKenzie started with the ostensible design of making a tour around the country, but really to cross the Rio Grande to hunt out the scourges of our long suffering frontier. He [illegible] the river on the night of the 17th, and went on [illegible] and silently toward Santa Rosa, Mexico. Sixty miles from the border, at the Santa Rosa Mountains, he encountered the Kickapoos, while they were still in blissful ignorance of their imminent danger, and killed eighteen and captured forty two, with a loss to him of only two men. The Colonel is on his way back to the post, where he will receive the grateful and sincere thanks of the frontier, [illegible], for his prompt and effectual action in our protection.

Later intelligence says McKenzie's [illegible] and [illegible] fired on by the Mexicans on their crossing the Rio Grande. The people on both sides the river are wrought to a high pitch of excitement. The Mexicans swear vengeance, and things look portentous.

The above is confirmed both by the Government courier and private letters.

A Washington special says the President to-day stated that McKenzie's raid against the Indians into Mexican territory was made in pursuance of orders, and that our Government is determined to stop outrages on the Texas frontier at all hazards.

Another special says the War Department has information that Fort Abraham Lincoln was attacked by 100 Sioux Indians, May 7th, the troops losing three horses but no men. One Sioux was killed. Cavalry has been ordered there.

CHICAGO, May 24.—A Washington special says the Government has no official information concerning an engagement between Colonel McKenzie and the Lipton and Kickapoo Indians on the Mexican border, except a brief dispatch, received to-day, from General Sheridan. In this dispatch nothing is said of the precise locality where the fight occurred, nor is there any mention of the fact that the Indians were pursued into the Mexican territory. At the War Department there appears to be little doubt that McKenzie followed the thieving Indians across the border and chastised them on Mexican soil. Fort Clark, the place mentioned in Sheridan's dispatch, is one of the border posts, and it appears that the fight took place 80 miles from that point. It is thought the Indians were in league with bands of thieving Mexicans, acting, of course, in defiance of law, and that this fact [illegible] known to McKenzie he determined to pursue them to what they deemed their stronghold. To a Peace Commission sent down to negotiate peace with the Kickapoos [illegible] since, the head men of that tribe said they were about to make a raid upon Texas, and when they returned would be prepared to talk peace. It is thought at the Indian Office that it was that raid which McKenzie so handsomely repelled. Our Government has [illegible] of the Mexican authorities to [illegible] into Mexican territory, but it has never received a satisfactory answer.

[illegible] Mariscal, Mexican Minister, is reported as saying that if it should become [illegible] for our troops to pursue thieves [illegible] into Mexico, the Mexican Government, in his opinion, would not complain.

Whatever may be the facts as to Col. McKenzie's action, it [illegible] to be the opinion [illegible] the Mexican Government [illegible] has little ground for complaint. In reply to [illegible] the acts of Mexican Indians upon the citizens of Texas, the Mexican authorities have merely replied that while they did not approve of them they were powerless to prevent [illegible]. This fact will go very far, it is [illegible], toward settling the otherwise grave [illegible] arising as to the [illegible] of McKenzie. The ground taken is that our Government is bound to protect its own citizens at all hazards, and if the Mexican Government [illegible] its citizens they must take the consequences. The question was [illegible] at a Cabinet meeting to-day, but in the absence of [illegible] no definite conclusion could be reached. It is very certain, however, that the Government will be in no hurry to apologize to Mexico for any wrong and outrage that they may complain of. The United States can [illegible] for [illegible] committed by Mexican citizens on the soil of the United States. The President has for a long time entertained the idea of bringing the Mexican business to a crisis, and it may be that the [illegible] of McKenzie will afford an opportunity.

EASTERN STATES.

Louisiana Affairs.

NEW YORK, May 24.—A New Orleans special states the proclamation of the President is warmly endorsed there, and is considered the harbinger of peace by business men.

The new Board of Police Commissioners met this afternoon. Superintendent Kelso was removed by a vote of four to one, and George Matsell, who was Superintendent of Police sixteen years ago, was appointed to succeed him.

Henry Smith was unanimously elected President of the new Board of Police Commissioners.

Tornado in Illinois.

CHICAGO, May 23.—The tornado which yesterday devastated a portion of Washington county, Iowa, appeared to have had a counterpart in McDonough county, Illinois. A similar one there caused great destruction of property, and the death of several persons and the wounding of many others.

Funeral of General Canby.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 23.—The funeral of General Canby took place from the Baptist Church this [illegible]. The church was heavily draped [illegible] with [illegible] of mourning. The [illegible] by Rev. Dr. Day, of the Baptist Church, [illegible] by Rev. Dr. Bayliss, of the Methodist Church, Kumler, of the Presbyterian Church, and Bradley, of the Episcopal Church.

Shooting Affray.

[illegible], May 23.—Considerable excitement prevailed last evening, relative to a shooting affray between Colonel R. E. Johnson, U. S. A., in [illegible] at Fort Foster and Dr. Perkins, arising from an alleged intimacy between the former and the latter's wife. Shots were exchanged—Colonel Johnson receiving two flesh wounds. The popular sentiment is against Johnson.

New York News.

NEW YORK, May 23.—There were [illegible] heavy purchases of gold to-day for a rise in premium, several of our leading brokers having taken in 10,000,000 in the aggregate. It is said that another gold combination is forming.

A writ of habeas corpus was granted in favor of McDonnell, the alleged Bank of England forger, returnable next Friday.

The trial of Dr. Brown, for attempting to kill Gas-Collector Murray, commenced to-day.

McAlpine, the thief, who was caught in a dwelling on Clinton avenue, Brooklyn, by a young lady, at whom he fired three shots, proves to have robbed another house the same night, after firing at its occupant. He unsuccessfully attempted to obtain bail to-day.

The body of Paymaster Meade, who died at San Francisco, will be buried on Sunday at Brooklyn by the Free Masons.

The motion to quash the indictment against Taintor, defaulting Cashier of the Atlantic Bank, will be heard on Monday.

Governor Dix signed the Westchester Annexation bill.

ALBANY, May 23.—The bottom of the new lock on the Champlain Canal, near Waterford Junction, has given out. The break is serious, and will incure heavy expenditure, as well as cause serious delay. A part of the aqueduct at Shakers, on the Erie Canal, has given out, and a bridge has fallen near Little Falls.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Exciting Scene in the French Assembly.

PARIS, May 23.—The debate on the interpellation introduced by the Conservatives began in the Assembly. The Duke De Broglie opened the debate with a speech in support of Dufaure, Minister of Justice. He declared, on the part of the Government, that it was now necessary to abandon the Provisional regime and acknowledge the Republic.

President Thiers mounted the Tribune to speak. Instantly a storm of objections and protests came from the Right and Right Center, which was met with counter cries from the other side. A scene of excitement and confusion that baffles description ensued. The President in vain endeavored to make himself heard; his voice was drowned in the uproar. Thiers descended from the Tribune and consulted with the Minister of Justice. Dufaure then took his place in the Tribune, and securing silence, said he had been instructed to formally notify the Assembly, in accordance with the law adopted at the last session, that the President desired to address the House in person and requested an adjournment until to-morrow morning, when he would proceed to deliver his speech. The Chamber then adjourned.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—Henry Baker was pronounced dead last night, but the report was premature. This morning he was alive and easier, and his friends still cherish some hopes of his recovery.

William Knowlton, arrested on the charge of rape and indecent assault, is to have an examination in the Police Court to-day. He stoutly maintains his innocence. He has a daughter teaching in the public schools.

The British Benevolent Society's annual banquet in honor of Queen Victoria, at the Cosmopolitan last night, was a grand affair.

A party of gentlemen, representing holders of Oregon railroad bonds in Europe, left for Portland to-day, to investigate into the management of railroad affairs in that State. The report that payment of the interest on these bonds had been stopped is denied by competent authority.

The Honolulu steamer carried away a cargo valued at $75,000.

About 1,600 Chinese arrived during the week.

The passengers of the Japan all landed to-day.

Chas. Minturn, President of the Contra Costa Steam Navigation Company, died to-day, aged 58.

Henry Baker's condition this afternoon is [illegible] favorable.

There were seventy-eight deaths in the city during the week.

The British steamer Lord of the Isles arrived this evening from Hongkong with another installment of Chinamen.

The Lord of the Isles brings 860 Chinamen. May 15th she broke her crank-shaft, and was four and-a-half days getting under way; finally came to port working only one engine. She brings no heathen news. In the China sea she encountered a dismantled junk, took off 19 of the survivors and brought all here.

[illegible] CALIFORNIA DISPATCHES.

YREKA, May 24.—The following is an extract from a letter from Lake City, Surprise valley, of a late date: "Everybody throughout our valley appears to be in a state of high excitement on account of apprehension of an outbreak of all the Indians south, east and north of us, to say nothing of the danger we are in from the Modoc war, now being waged on the west. [illegible] about what the Piutes have, are now [illegible] to do during the [illegible]. OREGON CITY ITEMS.

On Friday evening as Mr. L. C. [illegible], a [illegible] living near Oregon City, was driving along the [illegible] road, two miles east of the city, near the graveyard, [illegible] smell attracted his attention. He proceeded to the [illegible], where he found the dead body of an old man. The remains were in an advanced stage of decomposition, having laid at [illegible]. Coroner Pottey was [illegible] and [illegible] a jury empanelled, which rendered the verdict that they were unable to ascertain the cause of the death of the deceased or who he was. The deceased [illegible] in white canvas pants, black beaver coat, apparently new, brown cloth shirt and check undershirt and heavy boots. No hat was found. On his person were a pair of spectacles and a red cotton handkerchief. The remains were buried on the spot.

Early Saturday morning the body of a squaw, known as Jane Montgomery, the wife of T. Montgomery, who was killed a few years ago by McCormick, was discovered at the base of the cliff near Mr. Moss' house, by a young man named Bacon. An examination disclosed the fact that the squaw was dead, although the body had not become cold when first found, indicating that the accident had just occurred. From the testimony elicited before the Coroner's jury it appears Jane had been seen on the cliff, above the place where she was found, with Indian Charley during the previous evening, and as a couple of bottles emptied of their contents were found in the vicinity it was evident they had been drinking and in an intoxicated condition she rolled over the cliff. The Indians in the camp on the cliff took charge of the body.

The Sunday-school children of the different churches in Oregon City had an exceedingly pleasant time at their picnic opposite Canemah on Friday. Including the children there must have been at least 300 persons on the grounds.

Oregon City is visited at the present time with many people from Portland, excursionists passing through the Locks and the city.

The [illegible] is again in good condition.

Carpenters are at work on the roof of the Woolen Mills. By [illegible]day it will be entirely covered, and then the tinners will proceed with their work of laying tin.

Nothing has been done to the wrecks of the Shoo Fly and Alice. The hulls are apparently in good order.

Captain West at the Locks has his right hand tied up, having injured a finger some time ago.

You should not take any offense, Brother Myers, at the course of the Bulletin, for the editor of that paper has been so long in the collar that he naturally looks with an eye of envy on anything which makes showing of independence. MONDAY MORNING, MAY 26, 1873.

Another Revolution in France.

The French Republic is in convulsions again. This time it is worse than before. Thiers, who has probably held the Presidency longer than any other man in France could have held it, and all his able ministry, have resigned. The election of a successor to Thiers was immediately forced by the Right—the Monarchist party—and Marshal McMahon was chosen. What will be next it is hard to imagine. But the hopes of the Republicans must be greatly depressed by the result of this convulsion. With the entry of McMahon on the scene, it is not unlikely the fortunes of the Bonaparte dynasty will loom up again. The old Marshal was a devoted friend of the late Emperor, and has never been considered as friendly to a Republican Government for France. His acceptance of the Presidency of a French Republic will not estop him from exercising the influence of his high office to secure a French Monarchy in some form, unless the taste of power shall so whet his appetite as to cause him rather to work to keep himself President than to make another King or Emperor.

Thiers has proved himself a shrewd manager of men. The enmities and jealousies of the two extremes in the French Assembly, he has played off against each other in so skillful a manner, as to make both sides afraid to come to open rupture with him, though neither loved him. He has no faith in, nor affection for, Republican institutions—nor for anything else, for that matter—but he has a most convenient conscience, and always clearly comprehends the situation, and makes the most of whatever there is in it that can be turned to account in his favor. We venture the prediction, that if the French Republic does not very soon collapse, and make way for a monarchy—which we hope, but faintly, it will not do—it will be seen more clearly than it has been, how much the Republic was merely the government of Thiers. But the fact that General Changarnier led the Right in forcing the election, is itself good reason for prophesying that there is little thought among the new rulers, of the continuance of the Republic.

Domestic Manufactures.

Hon. T. W. Davenport, in a very interesting letter to the Farmer, mentions the manufacture of wagons by W. C. Baird & Co., of Brownsville, and says these wagons are made mostly of Oregon timber and are good substantial wagons. He says that timber can be selected in Oregon that will make just as good and durable wagons as any imported from the East. This is an important branch of manufacturing, and one that ought to be encouraged, if it can be carried on successfully here. As Mr. Davenport well says, the diversification of our industries is essential to the prosperity of the State. The wheat crop ought by no means to be abandoned, nor allowed to fall below the amount at present harvested, but our citizens should bear in mind at the same time that every dollar they pay for imported goods, which they could manufacture at home, is a dollar unnecessarily [illegible] out of the circulation of the State. If the [illegible] of thousands of dollars that the people of Oregon have sent away annually for the last five years—not to go back of that period—for [illegible] of common consumption that might as well have been made here, had they gone for home manufactured goods, would [illegible] to-day feel a stringency of the money market? Our wheat and wool would more than pay for all necessary imports, if manufacturing, in all its leading branches, were carried on to an extent sufficient to meet the wants of the State. Thus would our exports be greater than our imports, and the balance of trade be in our favor instead of being so fearfully against as it is at present.

That this point will be reached very soon, ought not be expected. In new countries the simpler kinds of industry always prevail. Manufacturing, which requires the investment of capital and the exercise of peculiar skill, waits till the settlement and the country have demonstrated the safety of such enterprise. Agricultural pursuits pioneer the growth of a country, and the manufactures come afterwards. And these do not come all in a body, but one at a time, carefully and slowly. It should be regarded as a cheering fact, that new branches of manufacturing are springing up in the country, and these should receive prompt encouragement.

The Last Meeting of the Ring.

The ring had a meeting Saturday night at the office of Mr. Holladay's attorney, to consider city politics. It was not a very enthusiastic affair. It was not equal to the meetings they held a week ago, when there were five or six [illegible] present. In fact it was a [illegible] failure. [illegible] considerable effort [illegible] the ring, to rally the despondent [illegible] of the clan. Their runners even urged [illegible] some prominent men, who have [illegible] suspected of ring proclivities. But they found they [illegible] not in the least degree susceptible. The meeting was held, however, and that too under the strictest possible provisions to protect it against intrusion from unhallowed presence. Only one person came. That person was Bob Ladd. Two others were there naturally—did not have to come. These were H. W. Scott and O. N. Denny. So the meeting consisted of three persons, Bob Ladd, Scott and Denny. They placed a guard at the foot of the stairs to see that no one should pass but those who had been invited. This outside guard was J. H. Mitchell, who, it is currently reported, is in this city in response to a telegram urging him to come and fix up the city politics for the people. He did not have much work to do as outside guard, for as we said before nobody came but Bob Ladd, and he was one of the invited, so there was no occasion for the use of force on him. The meeting was not remarkably vivacious, though it was quite harmonious. The three consulted just twenty-five minutes and adjourned without a day.

An exchange informs us that James Purcell will soon build a large theater in New York city, which will cost $100,000. Dion Boucicault has leased it for ten years at $35,000 per annum. An effort will be made to revive and sustain the legitimate drama therein. The contract with the builders prohibits any performance there of the "Black Crook" style of plays, as well as of circus and other similar entertainments.

The New York Tribune alleges that the vacant Chief Justiceship is at the disposition of Roscoe Conkling. The Senator is only restrained from sacrificing himself by the counsel of over-proud friends who talk valiantly of his "more conspicuous chances three years hence."

A Very Simple Matter.

A few days ago the Bulletin, by innuendo, charged that we attempted to swindle a law partner out of twelve hundred dollars. We stated that the matter was an unmitigated falsehood, and challenged the Bulletin to prove its truth. This the Bulletin does not attempt. But, true to the instincts of the person we have caught in so many deliberate falsehoods, instead of meeting the matter like a man, sneaks in behind another innuendo and, without offering any proof whatever to sustain his accusation, asks what definition we "would give of a man who would deceive a partner in a law case by making a settlement of a case, concealing the fact from his associate, and then buying out his associate's interest while the latter was still ignorant of the prior settlement with the opposite party to the suit?"

We answer that we should think such a man a knave and a scoundrel; and we add that a journalist who would make an accusation of that nature against a man, by innuendo or otherwise, without having the evidence to substantiate it, is a base knave and a cowardly puppy; and we would add further, that we believe the private character of a man who assumes the position of a public teacher, such as every newspaper editor does assume, is a legitimate subject of investigation and public criticism, and still further, that it is not only the right but the duty of any journalist, possessing the evidence to prove that another is the knave described in the above extract, to make the same public, if the accusation is denied.

And now having, as we suppose, waived all objections that we might be supposed to have to the publication of the proof by the Bulletin, we waive also the fact that the charge is only conveyed by indirection, and, meeting it as a direct accusation, we pronounce it an unmitigated falsehood, and again demand that the specifications and proof be published. Come, Mr. Bulletin, it is a very simple and easy matter to get the details of this transaction, and publish them over the signature of your witness, whoever he is; and if you still refuse to do so, the community can not but conclude you are a deliberate falsifier—if there are any who have not already so concluded. So come out with it, to save yourself, if not to serve the public.

Some Plain Truth.

The Roseburg Pantagraph tells but the plain, unvarnished truth when it says:

> The Bulletin and Statesman have been trying to read the OREGONIAN and the Pantagraph out of the party, from the simple fact that the last named journals had the hardihood to denounce some things done by Republicans. No denunciations have been made which were not well founded. Neither of the former journals have been able to refute the position taken by the latter, but have comforted themselves with the loud cry of "disorganizers," "affiliating with Democracy," etc. This cry is without effect.
>
> We would not charge either of them with trying to affiliate with the Democracy, particularly since the Holladay-Newell fizzle with the Herald; and we cannot but think that those supercilious sheets were trying to rule or ruin the Republican party, else why this continual goading and thrusting? Why their garbled extracts from well intended articles, and constructions put upon them entirely foreign to their real import?
>
> What is the object to be attained, and where will it end? is the anxious inquiry of many true Republicans.

What is the object to be attained, sure enough? The question is not difficult of solution. The object, on the part of the Bulletin, is to perpetuate the ascendency of the most corrupt and selfish ring of politicians that ever plundered the people of Oregon; and the object of the Statesman is to help the Bulletin, to which it is a mere tender. The editor of the Statesman is C. P. Crandall, whose price was just $800 some years ago, before he was the drunken wreck that he has since become. Whenever he shows signs of a disposition to go back on the ring, which he does as often as he runs out of money to bet on poker games, the Custom House mendicant goes around and takes up contributions to get money to buy him back again. That is the explanation of the whole matter.

We have been shown a copy of a letter from a person residing at Franklin, Idaho Territory, written to a prominent gentleman at Oregon City, warning him against M. D. Merrick, who has been lecturing through this country at different times within the last two or three years. The writer says that three years ago last September, Merrick abandoned his wife, with six children, at Franklin, and that the family have had a hard time to get along in the world since; that the wife is a woman of excellent character, and is struggling on as best she can with her children, without the support and protection of the husband and father.

Another offence is charged against Merrick, which we suppress out of regard for other parties involved. The writer of this letter proposes to furnish abundant evidence to prove his statements, if it becomes necessary. For the protection of the public these matters should be investigated, and if they are found to be true, this wolf in sheep's clothing should be hunted from society.

President Grant, it is said, proposes to sink all personal and party considerations in appointing a successor to Chief Justice Chase. A Washington dispatch says that his main object in postponing the appointment until after the meeting of Congress was to allow the claims and qualifications of various aspirants to be thoroughly discussed in the newspapers. By this means he expects to ascertain the feeling among the people and their preference as to candidates. It is evident that the President regards the selection of Chief Justice as the most important of his Administration under the appointing power, and expects to gain considerable reputation by it. There are about two hundred aspirants, so that there will be abundant material from which to choose.

Postmaster-General Creswell has recently decided that after the 1st of July next, letters containing fractional or other currency, sent through the mails to or from the Treasurer of the United States, may be registered without charge, but the postage on them must be paid, as on all other like mailable matter. The law abolishing the franking privilege does not affect the provision of the former statute authorizing full registration.

A new paper, issued by the Rutland Publishing Company, of Rutland, Vermont, states its proposed line of action in the following terse sentence: "This journal will be thoroughly Republican in principle, thoroughly conscientious in comment, and thoroughly independent in criticising all political parties."

The New York Herald expresses the opinion that thinking people will most likely consider that lives sacrificed in expeditions to explore the Arctic seas, are sacrificed without sufficient cause, and that the sad fate of Capt. Hall and his party ought to be an admonition that it is time to stop. We concur.

THE CALIFORNIA INDIAN WAR!

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 23—8 A. M.—The Modocs were guarded by seven separate posts last night, in order to protect them from enraged intruders, and that none might attempt to escape. Their camp was calm all night. This morning Blair and Fairchild visited the Modocs and held a protracted interview with the leaders, generally conversing with Bogus Charley. The Modocs said that the words and looks of the soldiers boded no good to Indians. The Tyee must be a great man if he could make all of them do as he pleased. Fairchild then entered into a long dissertation on the power of Tyee Davis, which was received with marked attention. At 9 o'clock Artona and Dixie, who have hitherto performed faithful service as Envoys Extraordinary, obtained permission from the General to visit the Modoc camp. They said, before leaving the headquarters tent, that Captain Jack and his staff were at the head of Pitt river. They will to-day cross-question the captives, with the view of obtaining definite information concerning Jack. Fairchild tells me that he believes there are more Indians in this vicinity. Last night he saw

Fires in the Hills

West of the house, which are considered almost certain signs of the presence of Indians.

May 22—noon. This forenoon General Davis, Col. Wheaton, Col. Green, and Col. Sumner had an interview with Shack nasty Jim, Steamboat Frank, Bogus Charley, and Curley headed Jack, Mr. Fairchild acting as interpreter, in the course of which Frank said that Captain Jack and 25 other warriors were about the headwaters of the Pitt river. None of the Modoc captives knew the precise location of the band. Several, including Frank, were anxious to fight Jack. He had made the Cottonwoods branch of the tribe bear the burden of the campaign. The Cottonwoods had to watch and fight at all times. Jack had

Formed an Aristocracy

In the tribe, and allowed only a few to enter its precincts. In brief, the entire business was managed by a ring. Frank reiterated his assertion that the Cottonwoods were intending to surrender when Hasbrouck's command ran across them in the hills a few days since. They surrendered because the soldiers annoyed them so. "No eat, no sleep," said Frank; "soldiers around all the time, night and day." This is high tribute to the efficiency of Capt. Hasbrouck. He is the man who chased the Modocs for eleven days and only halted when his nags refused to travel any further.

Fairchild's ranch is to be the main camp of the expedition. Col. Mason will move over from Van Bremer's with his Infantry, and from here the scouting parties will start. The Cavalry will be divided into three separate commands under the direction of Col. Green, two of the organizations being entrusted to Col. Perry and Capt. Hasbrouck. The Captain will start away with his men to-morrow, unless the order is revoked.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 23—Evening.—Nothing worthy of note has transpired since the date of my previous dispatch.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 24—1 P. M.—At noon to-day troops B and C, of the First Cavalry, Capt. Jackson commanding the former, and Major Cresson the latter, and twenty nine Warm Spring scouts, under Donald McKay, Col. Green leading the entire expedition, left here for Boyle's Camp, whence they will proceed to the country lying northeast of the lava bed in search of Capt. Jack and his band. They take fifteen days' rations for horses and men. Capt. Hasbrouck's command will not leave until to-morrow. Col. Perry's Cavalry command will not leave for several days.

Bogus Charley Spins a Yarn.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 24—6 P. M.—This afternoon I visited the Modoc captives by permission of Gen. Davis, and held a lengthy interview with the captives, in the course of which fresh and interesting facts were developed. Bogus Charley said the Modocs were deceived by Jack at every stage of the war, and were thoroughly disgusted with him. He had a lying tongue in his head. He promised the Indians that none of them should be hurt and failed to keep his word; but the Indians had never suffered for want of food. They lived on roots and cattle in the lava bed: one or the other could always be found.

Actual Number of Warriors Engaged.

Originally Jack's party numbered one hundred and fifty men, women and children. Only seventy of the bucks were old enough to fight, and actually participated in the battles. The squaws assisted in loading the guns. More Modocs had been killed and wounded than the white people thought. Several were killed and others wounded in the Thomas fight. Charley left Jack before that affair, and only knew what his friends told him. Forty-five warriors were engaged in the fight at Dry Lake, and were beaten by about the same number of soldiers. After the Modocs began the retreat, other soldiers came along. All the Modocs told this same story. They

Wanted to See the Tyee

Who hustled them about so lively, and did not give them a chance to whip. Captain Hasbrouck, of the light battery of the Fourth Artillery, is the Tyee to whom they refer. Charley and Shacknasty Jim insist upon the statement that Captain Jack is in the upper Pitt river country. He has 25 warriors, 18 ponies and many squaws and children. Charley believes that Jack will surely be captured. The captives are

Fed by the Government,

And kept under a strong guard. No one visits them without a pass, or by the orders of General Davis. They are held here as bail for the Modoc warriors, who are supposed to be skulking in the vicinity. The children average about two to each matron, and are of various shades, from the rich warm brown, described by Joaquin Miller, to a tolerably clean white.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 24—Evening.—Boyle's Camp will be the base of supplies for the cavalry operating against Capt. Jack. General Davis thinks that the Modoc troubles are by no means settled. Capt. Jack's cohorts contain some of his best warriors—men who, like himself, are outlaws, and know that capture means death. Among the Pitt River Indians Jack will undoubtedly find friends and supporters. Six years ago he

Stole Five Pitt River Squaws,

And thereby drove the Indians of that section into a compulsory alliance. Now he may probably strive to bring the Pitts into service.

Col. Mason has arrived from Van Bremer's with his infantry and pitched tents on the banks of the Cottonwood.

Walbridge, sutler for the expedition, has erected a store. Bean has opened a restaurant, and the camp has once more assumed a lively appearance.

Gen. Davis has just issued an order superseding Gillem and reinstating Gen. Wheaton. This order gives entire satisfaction to the officers and men. The following is a copy of the order:

HEADQUARTERS, DEPARTMENT OF COLUMBIA—In the field, May 21.—Col. A. C. Gillem, First Cavalry, Commanding Modoc Expedition—Colonel: The Department Commander directs that you issue the necessary orders to give effect to the following:

The Modocs having been, during the recent operations, beaten and driven from their strong holds, and having dispersed into small scattered bands, the pursuit and capture of the fugitives is now to be the immediate work of the troops. This duty will especially devolve upon the mounted troops, who will be called on to operate in small detachments, moving rapidly, vigorously, and frequently independently of each other. The operations of the foot troops must be made to conform to the new order of things. The conduct of officers, therefore, can more conveniently be carried on under the immediate orders of the department commander, while on the spot, than under those of a special commander of the expedition. Col A. C. Gillem is therefore retired from duty with this command and will proceed to the head quarters of his regiment, at Benicia Barracks, California, with a view to his assuming command of and preparing for the field the five Troops of the First Cavalry now enroute from Arizona.

By order of J. C DAVIS,

Col. 23d Infantry, Comnd'g Dept.

Artena Chokes and Dixie have just interviewed Generals Davis and Wheaton, and reported four Modocs in the hills anxious to come in. One of them is thought to be the notorious Boston Charley, hitherto said to be defunct. The quartette are likely to come in at any time.

A New Phrase—Subdued Modocs.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 24—The daughter of old Sheepy, a squaw well known in this neighborhood, came into camp ten minutes ago, and reported that two Modoc women and a warrior had arrived at the wickiup, near Dorris', last night. One of the squaws died. The impression prevails that at least half a dozen subdued Modocs are hovering about the camp, awaiting a chance to communicate with the captives, and learn how they have been treated.

Warm Spring Symphonies.

FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, May 25—The Warm Spring braves gathered about the spring near the Modoc camp this morning, and chanted a melodious war song, to the

Infinite Disgust of the Captives,

Whose tenure of life appeared to be waxing brief. All of the Warm Springs here participated in the musical soiree. The exercises were confined to a series of yells, and suggestive gesticulations. On a previous occasion some of the Warm Springs refused to go out on a scout on Sunday because they were members of the Methodist Church. The life of a soldier has a very demoralizing tendency.

BUNKER.

We have heard nothing within a day or two of the gigantic scheme of annexation of which our dispatches made mention a few days ago. The reports have been denied over and over again, but here comes a Washington dispatch which certainly squints toward something like annexation. It says that General Schofield has written a private letter to General Sherman, giving a full account of his recent visit to the Sandwich Islands as the guest of Commodore Pennock, in which he says that the people of the Islands are ripe for annexation, and anxious to become a part of the territory of the United States. This sentiment is held, to a large extent, by the American residents. The fine harbor at Honolulu is very desirable as a coaling station for Pacific steamers and naval vessels. He hopes the President will not be deterred by the failure of the San Domingo scheme, to favorably recommend this subject to Congress, in his next message.

We hear of a St. Louis Chinaman who has so far forgotten the sanctity of the queue and sandal, that he appeared in full American dress on the streets of St. Louis, a few days since, to the great scandal of his countrymen and the discomfiture of divers dandies. Says a St. Louis reporter "As he walked along the street, the envy of his emulators of fashion, he seemed imperial in his pride."

General Grant has addressed letters of condolence to Francis Joseph, Emperor of Austria, on the death of Her Majesty, the Empress Caroline Augusta, widow of the late Emperor Ferdinand I., and to King Louis I. of Portugal, on the death of Her Majesty, the Empress of Brazil, his grandmother.

CITY.

THE EXCURSION.—The picnic and excursion given on Saturday through the Locks by the Congregational and Unitarian Sabbath Schools, proved, as we had predicted, one of the most pleasant excursions of the season. At least five hundred persons embarked on the steamer Annie [illegible] for the grounds. A number of persons [illegible] on board when the boat touched at [illegible] City. The steamer left the foot of Alder [illegible] soon after 8 o'clock, and passing through the Locks arrived at the grounds about half-past [illegible]. Appetites were well sharpened by the long ride on the boat; and soon after reaching the [illegible] lunch was spread, of which every one [illegible] with great relish. Lunch being over a [illegible] of innocent games were instituted, such as [illegible] tag, foot ball, croquet, etc. A large swing was erected, which also afforded a great deal of sport for the little folks. Four or five [illegible] were spent in the most agreeable manner [illegible] when the first whistle of the [illegible] gave warning that the time for starting homeward was near at hand. Shortly after 3 [illegible] the last whistle was sounded, and the [illegible] turned her prow towards this city. Portland was reached in safety at 6 o'clock. All on board were a trifle wearied with the excitements of the day, but well pleased withal with the enjoyment the occasion afforded. The trip was in every respect a success, and no accident occurred [illegible] the sum total of the enjoyment expe[illegible], or mar the festivities of the participants.

AN INTERESTING GAME.—Arrangements have been [illegible] by the Champions of the Red Cross to [illegible] interesting time at their picnic and [illegible], which will be given on Tuesday next on the grounds opposite Canemah. One of the most attractive features of the occasion will be a game of chess, in which the figures of ivory or [illegible] used in ordinary games, are to be represented by girls and boys dressed in appropriate [illegible] of kings, queens, knights, bishops, etc. The [illegible] will consist of a level plat forty [illegible] and laid off into the required number [illegible]. Two gentlemen of this city, well [illegible] players, will play the [illegible] by two captains chosen for the occasion. [illegible] costumes of the parties used on one [illegible] blue, and of the other pink, thus [illegible] contrast of easily distinguishable [illegible] neatly costumed little boys [illegible] the pawns used in the game. To [illegible] through will probably require [illegible] of an hour, but the interest which [illegible] a contest will not suffer any [illegible] should it require twice as long. Each [illegible] his own mode of playing, the [illegible] of the living figures being directed by [illegible]. We learn that the Order [illegible] of the programme at a [illegible], but its attractiveness promises [illegible] for the time and money [illegible].

THE PASSENGERS.—The steamship John L. Stephens [illegible] on Saturday for this port from San [illegible]. She has the following passengers: [illegible], Dr [illegible], Mr Rosewold, E H [illegible], Mr [illegible], Maj R Hammond, Dr Ful[illegible], Thos Hosmer and wife, Col [illegible], U S A; Mr [illegible], T Pitt Cooke, H D [illegible], Dr H T Dergant, U S A, and family; W [illegible], A B [illegible], W T Loose, A McKenzie [illegible], J T [illegible], James Collins and three [illegible], Rev [illegible], O Sweezl, H Sawyer, [illegible], Mrs M Corrigan and three [illegible], W Graves, G K [illegible] and wife, Chas A Hughes, Geo Adair and [illegible], A B Sheffield, A Lindskog, Dr S M Harris and three children, H [illegible], C S Dixon, P [illegible], C H Woodard and family, Mrs E J Thor[illegible] child, T J Nugent, Miss Alice St Clair, Miss [illegible] Gill, [illegible] M Nichols, S T Hamilton, [illegible] Tompkins, A H Bixby and two children, J [illegible] and wife, C H Dunlop and family.

[illegible] VEREIN MAY FEST.—At about 10 o'clock [illegible] day, the Turn Verein assembled at their [illegible] shortly after, headed by the East Port[illegible] Band, marched through the principal streets [illegible] to the Canyon Gardens, where the May [illegible] held. Quite a large crowd had [illegible] to spend the day at this retreat with the [illegible]. During the afternoon, gym[illegible] by the athletic young [illegible] indulged in, which with singing [illegible] section and music by the band, formed [illegible] the attractions. Of course, [illegible] and wine, which Germans and Americans love dearly, flowed freely, and no one [illegible] desire for the beverages to excess. [illegible] to be in the best humor. Rain [illegible] early the festivities were consequently [illegible] at an early hour of the evening. [illegible] to their hall much pleased [illegible] of the annual Turn Fest.

[illegible] ENGINE.—The boiler and engine [illegible] on the steamer Enterprise, wrecked [illegible] ago off the mouth of the Umpqua river, [illegible] up on the bark Free Trade. This [illegible] has been fished out from the wreck [illegible] little damage, and after being overhaul[illegible] be used on a new steamer which the [illegible] River Transportation Company propose [illegible]. The boiler is about 20 feet long, [illegible] and has 123 tubes.

[illegible] AT ASTORIA.—In tow of the Ben Holladay [illegible] barkentine Jane A. Falkinburg was taken [illegible] port down to Astoria on Saturday last, [illegible] is lying at present. The Falkinburg [illegible] for San Francisco. A part of her cargo [illegible] here. At Astoria a quantity of [illegible] will be taken on board and the [illegible] for her destination. From the latter [illegible] Falkinburg will probably sail for Hono[illegible].

[illegible] AT PORT.—The bark Free Trade [illegible] been due at this port for some days, [illegible] yesterday morning from Astoria, in [illegible]. She encountered head [illegible] the passage, which accounts for the [illegible] way up she touched at several [illegible] salt, of which a portion of her [illegible]. The Free Trade will discharge [illegible] wharf where she is now lying.

[illegible].—The steamer Emma [illegible] drove of cattle and sheep [illegible] day from the Cascades. [illegible], the Dixie Thompson [illegible] when the passengers [illegible] from the Hayward [illegible] that continued down [illegible] destined for the Sound [illegible].

[illegible] time past, the tug [illegible] with a disabled propeller [illegible] her present propeller [illegible] Free Trade brought up from [illegible], 7 feet in diameter. [illegible]. In a few days the tug will go [illegible] be hauled, and the new propeller [illegible] of the present broken one.

[illegible].—The Columbia bar is reported [illegible] at last accounts. No vessels [illegible] off by the tug on Saturday. It is [illegible] pilot schooner California, which arrived [illegible] San Francisco last week, will probably [illegible] and the bar to-day to look for [illegible].

[illegible] RETURNED.—The delegates attending [illegible] Lodge of Odd Fellows returned [illegible] yesterday evening. The Lodge, [illegible] session, concluded its [illegible] evening, and the delegates are [illegible] to their respective homes.

[illegible]. The steam tug Merrimac, which [illegible], will not go down the river [illegible] days. A new smoke stack will be put [illegible] and some other repairs made.

[illegible] ANNOUNCED.—His Honor, Judge [illegible] will announce an opinion in the U. S. [illegible] this morning in the case of Fitz [illegible] DuBois et al.

PERSONAL.

Col. W. W. Chapman arrived home via Kelton, [illegible] evening.

Gov. [illegible] of Utah arrived at Salt Lake City, [illegible], on the 18th inst.

Hon. R. J. Pengra, of Springfield, has returned [illegible] after a visit of a few days to this [illegible].

[illegible] Woodard, the well known druggist [illegible] the steamer bound for Portland. He [illegible] a protracted visit East, and is accompanied by his family.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Postal cards now.

Try it; you'll like it. Fabre's coffee.

The Ajax brings a large list of passengers.

A great many postal cards came to citizens here yesterday.

Our Stephen Maybell, ye poet laborer of Oregon, is still "literating" in San Francisco.

Removal of goods from warehouses along the wharves just now will save considerable property.

No occasion for firemen to turn out to meet the fiery element since the 18th inst., and the alarm on that day was false.

A satirical little sheet known as the Grizzly, published in San Francisco, after a short and fitful career, has retired to its hole.

Moth is rampant now and furriers are putting away their goods, resolved to have whole skins if possible when winter comes round again.

We have received the first number of the Oregon Progressionist, published at Cornelius. It looks well considering the haste in getting it out.

Bogus coins of half-dollar and $5 denominations are said to be in circulation in San Francisco, so look out for them here in due time.

A youthful witness of a base ball game last Saturday received a "hot" ball on the eye, which may possibly result in the loss of the optic.

A drayman informed us last evening that there was scarcely a dozen horses in town that were not troubled with the "epizooty." We don't think it is quite so bad as that.

The East Portland Brass Band played several airs at the Central Market, Saturday evening. The result was a grand rush, and it proved a difficult matter to pass through the crowds.

We noticed on Saturday afternoon several new and very pretty little rowing boats on the river. This is capital exercise, and we are therefore pleased to see interest in sculling on the increase.

We are requested to state on the authority of the officers of the steamer Dixie Thompson, that no vessels were reported off the bar last Saturday morning, the Herald to the contrary notwithstanding.

When the rain began to fall yesterday, quite a number of promenaders were caught in the shower. Mary Jane, to save that "love of a bonnet," drew her dress over her head at the expense of her heels. There wasn't much promenading after 4 o'clock.

Several Chinamen gathered on the wharf at the foot of Washington street on Saturday afternoon, at the time of the arrival of the Mary Wilkens, and when the engineer blew off steam, the hasty departure of the Celestials created much merriment among bystanders.

J. E. Stansbury, on Columbia Slough, made fifty-seven pounds of butter from six cows (one a stripper and one a two year old heifer), grazed on upland pasture, in one week. He wants to know if any one in the country can beat this from the same number of cows.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 21st says: John Tuers was arraigned for murder in the Fifteenth District Court on Monday, for the killing of James Dowling. He pleaded not guilty, with leave to withdraw his plea if his counsel deemed it advisable. His case was set for trial for July 8th.

"To the Prettiest Girl in Portland, Oregon," was the address on a postal card which came to the Postoffice yesterday. There will be a great many claimants for that card, and we will add that the handsome young man at the delivery window is anxious to make the acquaintance of the prospective owner of the missive.

BASE BALL.

The most exciting game this season was played on Saturday at Oregon City between the Pacifics of this city and the Rustlers of the former place. Each club having won a game the deciding match naturally attracted great attention. Taking advantage of the excursion trip of the Annie Stewart the Pacific Club, together with some fifty persons, many of whom were members of the Pioneers, took passage on that steamer for Oregon City, at which place they were met by a delegation of the Rustler Club and escorted to the grounds on the cliff, where some 200 people were assembled. A number of ladies lent their presence to the scene, which had a tendency to make the players engage in the contest with great spirit. Mr. Joseph Wiley, of the Pioneer Club, having been selected for umpire, the game was called, the Rustlers going to the bat. Up to the sixth inning the contest was close. In the sixth and seventh innings the Rustlers received "goose eggs," and from that time on it was clearly evident that there was no hope of their winning the game. Fortune was against them, but they tried their utmost to regain lost ground. It was of no avail, as the Pacifics had succeeded in getting too many runs ahead at the close of the seventh inning for their opponents to overcome. Of the playing on each side the honors were with Pratt, Lewis, Rice, Cross and J. Warren of the Rustlers, and Matthews, Henderson, [illegible] and Cushing of the Pacifics. Matthews behind the bat played excellently, and Lewis and Rice had a perfect understanding, which enabled them to put a man out frequently. We would like to say something of several good plays on each side, but our space will not admit of speaking at length. The umpiring of Mr. Wiley seemed to give satisfaction. At the close of the game Mrs. Broughton, who had been an unobserved witness of the game, sent to Captain Deady, of the Pacifics, a bouquet of many flowers, which the recipient received with becoming grace. The visitors were then invited to dinner at the Barnum Restaurant. The boys sat down to a variety of solids, which were disposed of without delay. Appended is the result of the game:

Umpire—Jos. Wiley, Pioneer Club.
Scorers—T. A. Bacon, Rustlers; C. W. Carter, Pacific.

A reply to the challenge of the Pioneer Club to the College Club of Salem is expected on Tuesday evening. While the boys are waiting it would be well to try the Pacifics, who are highly elated over their recent success. It can do no harm, and will aid the first nine of the Pioneers to get in trim for the anticipated game with the College Club.

The Spartan Club will meet on Tuesday evening, at which time the Captain will assign members to positions in the first nine.

In the game Saturday between the Active and Alert, the former had 50 runs to the 15 of the Alert.

The Crescent defeated a picked nine, 70 to 10, on Saturday.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent writing from Empire City under date of May 20th says:

Circuit Court meets here next Monday, 26th.

The debt which has rested for a long time on the M. E. Church of this place has at last been paid off. The church was dedicated last Sunday by Rev. C. H. Todd, of Wilbur, assisted by the resident pastor, Rev. Mr. Alderson.

The schooner Pelma arrived on the 20th, and in sailing in without the assistance of a tug struck on the middle ground opposite Coos Heads and knocked her false keel off. She will load with lumber in place of coal, the cargo she came for, as she is leaking some.

Several persons arrived from the interior by the late stages. They are on a tour of inspection.

The arrivals during the past week were the schooners Selina, Pacific, B. H. Ramsdell and Fannie A. Hyde; departures, schooners Concordia, Lizzie Derby and Golama and steamer Eastport.

Eight hundred tons of coal and 450 M. feet of lumber were shipped since the 13th inst.

LADIES' RELIEF SOCIETY.

PORTLAND, May 25, 1873.

As the funds of the Relief Society are getting low, the ladies desire giving a festival for the benefit of the Home, early in the strawberry season. As this is a cause which should interest the public generally, we trust it will be largely patronized. Any fancy articles which the ladies can make, will be most acceptable, and the definite day announced as soon as possible.

FANNY AINSWORTH,
Secretary Ladies' Relief Society.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Champions of the Red Cross will hold a picnic and excursion to the grounds opposite Canemah to-morrow.

THE CHURCHES.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

In response to an invitation extended by Baker Post, No. 1, G. A. R., to the ministers of the city to preach commemorative discourses at the several churches, in honor of Decoration Day, the pastor of this church, Rev. J. D. Eaton, delivered an appropriate sermon for the occasion. His text was predicated on the following passage of Scripture, "And the land had rest from war," Joshua, xiv, 15.

We herewith present a synopsis of the discourse:

We all cannot, if we would, keep our thoughts from running on before to the next Friday. Into the old-time realm of the May Queen has come a rival to dispute with her the possession of the kingdom. As soon as the threshold of this month introduced us to the nature world carpeted with grass and flowers and to the walls of her hill sides frescoed with living colors, it has been the wont of the young men and maidens to go forth and search out the hiding places of the sprites and fairies and force them to surrender a share of their sweet spoils. Then they wove a chaplet of flowers and bestowed their suffrages upon one pre-eminent for blooming youth and beauty, crowned her "Queen of the May" and flung at her feet their floral offerings.

Into the borders of the same month presses another company. They, too, have sought out the fragrant treasures in wood and upland; they, too, bring floral offerings, but not to deck a young girl's brow. They are too thoughtful and earnest for laughter and sport. In the ranks I see many besides young men and maidens. I see the staid matron and the stern man of mature years; I see grey hair and tottering steps. Father, mother, wife, son, daughter—all are there. They do not come forth to dance in circles on the green. They turn their steps toward the silent city, and deck the mounds which cover manly breasts.

The flowers are now opening, which, this week, will be left to wither in the Lone Fir Cemetery; the children will soon be looking into our faces with a questioning glance, asking us, "What mean ye by these things?" and we want to have an answer ready for them.

There will be men ready to ask, to what purpose is this waste? Some men never leave the highway for an hour's stroll; the din of the trip-hammer is sweeter to them than the music of the organ or the harp; they tramp on prosily, with never a lift from the wings of the imagination; they are unable to distinguish between sentiment and sentimentality, and condemn both to the land of dreams and absurdities.

In the same way there was a faint outcry last year against the floral decorations in the Mt. Vernon Cemetery, the objectors claiming that the money expended to honor the memory of dead soldiers might have purchased many loaves of bread for living soldiers, widows and orphans. The same persons have probably never ceased regretting that the alabaster box of ointment was not thrown upon the market to realize that two "hundred pence."

We have determined to strew the flowers without waiting to convince the men of callous heart; but when the children ask us why we do it, how shall we answer them? Shall we tell them savage stories of savage men who struck at the nation's life like a hydra headed monster, and then say to them that we bring flowers in honor of those who helped to hew off the dragon heads, and afterwards make them swear eternal hate towards those who did not cast in their lot with us? In other words, shall we cherish love for one half of the land and hate for the other half, instead of a beautiful love for the whole land?

Nay, the May-day service is one which appeals to all hearts, from Maine to the Mexican border, and which should not overlook the grave of any soldier, whether he sleeps in gray coat or a blue. "Independence Hall," with its associations of '76, is a school of patriotism; and you take the children to that school and tell them the story, that their love may be wedded to the fatherland. Plymouth rock, by Pilgrim Hall, is a school of patriotism; and you stand upon it with bared head paying involuntary homage to the royalty of principle, and the children think upon it and grow like their fathers. Each national cemetery is a school of patriotism. You take the child hither and bid him look upon all those mounds, and you say, "All these are the price paid; how precious, then, must be that true freedom for which such a price was not too dear!"

While the late war is charged with introducing a reckless feeling into society, little regarding life and property, in addition to the usual calamities of armed strife, the conflict did good service in two ways: It developed an unsullied patriotism, and exhibited a Christianity that could stand fire.

While the war brutalized some natures,—yes, even introduced an element of brutality into civil life encouraged the exhibition of private revenge, while it left a vacant chair in many a home, it did not bring unmixed evil. For it showed us to what sublime heights of self-renunciation it was possible for those men to rise, whom we supposed to have forgotten principles in their devotion to trade. And it demonstrated the existence of pure and undefiled religious faith under the unpromising exterior of a supposed heartless conformity to respectable modes of worship.

As we recover from the bad effects of the strife and gradually leave off the badges of our mourning, a sad thing will it be for us as a nation, if we forget along with them the good lessons we learned—the lessons of patriotism and religion.

The individualism of Communism, where every man snatches and keeps for himself all that he can get hold of, without regard to others' good,—the individualism which is the natural outcome of much of the thinking and writing of the day—means disintegration and destruction to the State. God has set men in families, and in this way has given us a lesson in political economy. The State is a larger family in which the first are units. Every freeman must become a politician by virtue of his membership in the great family and we must get back to the original definition of "politics," which signifies the science of governing a State on ethical principles,—not the science of turning bandit and plundering the public goods without suffering penalty.

Do you love your country? "Yes." How much do you love her? Do you love her in any other way than you love the goose that lays the golden egg? Do you love her enough not to let others steal from her? Do you love her enough not to steal from her yourself? Nay, do you love her enough to lay all you have at her feet?

Meanwhile the Christian Church has an important part to play in studying the science of government. The cry, "Our country, right or wrong," will destroy that larger unity toward which the unity of the family and the unity of State are tending.

Our faces were flushed with the heat of contest too recently for us to pass deliberate judgment upon the merits of the cause. Many a man on the South side in trenches was animated by as pure a patriotism as stirred the breast of him who came from the Northward. Perhaps he looked through a bent telescope, and called wrong right, and right wrong; perhaps he was deluded by those whom he reverenced as his superiors and his leaders. But I say that, if ever a man was hurried into a wrong act by a right motive, many a husband and brother in the South could plead a pure intent.

Let us recognize that spirit of devotion which is the bulwark of State, whether it pointed the guns Northward or Southward; and let not the bearers of flowers quarrel at the gates, but let them interchange the sweetly sad services of decoration and chant over all the graves. "It is sweet and honorable to die for one's country."

War is in itself a calamity, and only a calamity. It is permitted for the hardness of our hearts. It is a cruel cure, to which we resort when peaceful means fail through our own fault. The blood of slain brothers have cried from the ground from the beginning. The crude days of our ancestors were days of vengeance inflicted. The spears and arrow-heads which we pick up from the alluvial deposits of our river valleys, do not betoken a golden age of innocence and peace, but rather an age of wrath and strife. The brass and iron, more lately made use of, were beaten into like instruments of death. We of to-day carry on with more ingenious helps, the long tragedy of history.

The Christian Church must bring to bear an influence which will prevent the perpetration of outrages, and compel all disputes to be settled according to just principles on a peaceful plan.

I believe the Church is beginning to grasp and use that power. True, base fellows innumerable help to swell the hoarse chorus of party, [illegible], partizan, cries. In journalism and in public oratory, too often the popular standard is not high. Corruption abounds in high places: statesmanship is defined by some as money making, and the robes of the bench have, in some instances, been trailed through the mire. But, in spite of this, I do not not believe that the moral pestilence, which destroyed proud Rome, has yet tainted our air. There is a healthy pulse beating under all that betokens an uncorrupted center.

Church bells and bands of music contend for the pre-eminence on peaceful Sabbath mornings. Processions of pleasure seekers cross the paths of worshipers wending their way to the Sanctuary, yet if the Divine Father stood back, and put it to the vote of His creatures in our land whether the obligation, to observe one day in seven as a season of rest and spiritual culture should continue in force, I believe that the Sabbath would be triumphantly vindicated, and the people will yet bow in reverence before the God of the Sabbath.

King David's bloody hands, stained in so many wars, were not allowed to build the holy temple at Jerusalem. And our high destiny as a people—our best future cannot be realized while we continue to appeal to the sword. We have already the emotion of patriotism, but it must be refined still more, until we gain the wise, far-seeing love of country, which will be able to prevent all snarls before it becomes necessary to cut the knots with the sword.

I say, then, honor the dead. You need not strew condemnation with the flowers. They did nobly. By the help of their deeds we are able to go on with our problems. But we shall disgrace their fame bequeathed, unless we build better than they knew.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The morning discourse at this church was preached by Rev. Dr. A. L. Lindsley, from that part of the Bible found in St. Luke, 24th chapter, 50th and 51st verses:

> "And he led them out as far as Bethany, and he lifted up his hands and blessed them. And it came to pass while he blessed them he was parted from them and carried up into Heaven."

The church of Christ since the days of the Apostles, has ever celebrated the days of important events in its history as they annually occur. One of these is Easter, improperly named so from a German goddess. It commemorates the resurrection of Christ. The man Christ Jesus passed through all the states of human nature, yet without sin or contact of sin. He had often assumed the angelic nature, and had even tried manhood on before he entered his abode of human clay. And when he became a man it was not in the flush of maturity, but as an infant in its helplessness. He passed through boyhood's track, and youth's temptations. Though infinite, he allied himself to the finite—the Creator to the created—the deathless to the dead. Though rich he became poor. Though almighty, he became feeble. Though sinless he took the place of sinners. Though a sovereign ruler, he became the servant of all, and submitted to the death of the cross, that he might become the Savior of all. In every step he was our leader. He went before, but not so far before as to be shut out from our sight; or to be separated from us by our pride and prejudice. He undertook to do all this in a way that should be most attractive to us. There were none but the most loving traits in his character. He even created eyes that we might see him. After his death Jesus rose. There is no truth if this be not true. There is no history if this be not history. And he is to come again; there is nothing so certain as this in all the laws of nature or in the convictions of men's minds. He will come as he departed, surrounded by angels. The ascent of Christ was not a mere display to the eyes of men. It was not a public exhibition to mankind. Such a spectacle would have invaded the province which faith must occupy. But it was public and visible to other races of intelligence—to a multitude of heavenly hosts. His ascension is an example of ours, and more. He passed through three states of nature: First, that of a spirit joined to a mortal body; Second, that of a disembodied spirit; Third, that of a spirit united to an immortal frame. Through them all His manhood was unchangeable. He ascended to take possession of our inheritance. We shall share with the glory He has purchased for us. His ascension is a final act. No cloud shall fall upon that life; no utterance but love shall greet His ear. We, too, shall ascend. The only difference shall be a difference of time. Christ to-day bids us witness what He has done in our behalf. Here, I submit, are some of the loftiest themes which the Gospel presents to our consideration. Let us not fail to discern that which is practical in it. What is more important than the thought of death? A traveler starting on a journey to a strange land inquires anxiously about the road he is to travel, and the people he will meet. You are bid do the same. Let us feel, for our encouragement, that not one of us need be left behind. He who took the poor thief and made him the trophy of His power can also take us up with Him to glory.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Services were held at this Church both morning and afternoon, by Rev. A. R. Medbury, the Pastor. In the morning the text was taken from the Gospel of St. John, viii., 45:

> "Because I tell you the truth, ye believe me not."

Christians often marvel at the prevalence of unbelief in Christian lands. To those who have put all their trust in Christ, every vital proposition of the Gospel has become so plain and conclusive, and all the claims of the Gospel are so reasonable, that those who have this experience wonder that men everywhere do not embrace the truth at once upon hearing the Gospel. But we are reminded that a few, and only a few, believed with the whole heart when Christ—God incarnate, and on the earth,—Himself preached His own glorious Gospel, and confirmed it unto those that heard Him by His wonderful miracles of love, His vicarious death and His glorious resurrection. And by the text Jesus gives one brief but pungent reason why men did not accept and believe his preaching. "Because I tell you the truth ye believe me not." We shall be instructed by observing what truth Christ told that provoked unbelief, and how He told it. Christ preached a spiritual kingdom—a kingdom "not of this world." And His inspired Apostles told of a warfare in which the weapons were "not carnal, but spiritual." But the materializing habits of those who heard him had perverted the divine promise and kept before their thoughts an ideal kingdom, in which, practically, "the world the flesh and the Devil" would have been controlling forces. And when, by His preaching, Christ sought to correct their carnal notions of God's kingdom, their prejudice was smitten; they were angry with disappointment, and they would not believe the unwelcome truth. As with the kingdom so with the King. So long as the Savior multiplied the material loaves and fishes for the multitude they followed him most eagerly.

But when he taught them, saying, "Labor not for the meat that perisheth, but for that which endureth unto everlasting life," "I am the bread of life, verily I say unto you except ye eat my flesh and drink my blood ye have no life in you," "He that cometh unto me shall never hunger, and he that believeth in me shall never thirst," "It is the Spirit that quickeneth, the words that I speak unto you they are Spirit and they are life," when he laid before them such truths as these about himself as the "Truth, the Way, and the Life," many who had so eagerly followed him through the city and into the wilderness, and around the sea and up into the mountains, went back and walked no more with him. But most unwelcome was that truth which Jesus told men about themselves. It has ever been so. Not a few are willing to hear and believe a thing about others to which they will not listen when it becomes a part of their own lives. If Christ had so spoken the truth that it could never have had any application direct and strong to the hearts and consciences and lives of those who heard him, he probably would never have heard the fierce cry "Away with him! crucify him!" But his manner of speaking the truth was intensely personal. He always preached to somebody. Hence the reason why those who would not know the worst about their sins did not believe him.

This text brings us lessons of great practical importance.

By it we are taught that the effect of Christian truth upon a man's heart is the real test of that man's spiritual condition.

If Divine truth has no effect upon us it is evidence that the moral nature is benumbed by sin—"Dead in trespasses and sins."

If the truth—when true of ourselves—serves only to stir us into more energetic unbelief against Christ and bitter aversion of His word, it demonstrates the absoluteness of the dominion of sin and falsehood over our hearts. If the truth, which reproves us of our sin, and beckons us to God's favor in Jesus, melts us into penitence and constrains us to put our trust in Christ and strive to obey His word, it is proof that we are willing and anxious to know, and love and heed the truth that makes men free. Here, too, we are taught that the truth, "as it is in Jesus," however kindly and faithfully spoken, may nevertheless be rejected on account of its very truthfulness. Christ loved men, and hence He mercifully told them the truth. Men did not love Christ, and hence they would not believe the truth which He told them. The Lord Jesus has commissioned and commanded Christians to repeat the truth that He taught until the end of the world.

The Christian should be ever constant in carrying out this high commission, ever "speaking (Christ's) truth in love." And this is to be done whether men will hear or forbear. The responsibility of believing or rejecting God's truth lies with the man who hears it; but the responsibility of telling that truth is laid upon those who profess to have received it, and neither the faith or unbelief of other men can ever, in any wise, diminish that responsibility. But every man who rejoices to live and tell the truth "as it is in Jesus" may ever be cheered by the thought that some who hear will heed. And so in his faithfulness to Christ he shall make blessed companionships for heaven.

Because that now, as in the time of our Savior, the more Christian truth is proclaimed the more unbelief appears to be developed in many lives, it is no indication that the truth is not fulfilling its mission. It must accomplish that where unto it has been sent, and it is evidently a part of its mission to bring human unbelief to the surface that it may be its own witness against itself in the Day of Judgment. Not only the salvation of those who believe in Jesus, but the condemnation of those who will not believe in Him, must testify at last to the eternal truthfulness of His every utterance.

Then, let us not be of those who will not believe Him because He telleth us the truth; but let us remember that "whosoever believeth on Him shall be saved"; for the truth as it is in Jesus shall make us free—free now—forever free.

The subject for the evening discourse was suggested by the ceremonies of Decoration Day. The text was taken from First Thess., 5th chapter, 21st verse:

> "Hold fast that which is good."

UNITARIAN CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Eliot preached a discourse last evening at his church in respect to the memory of the fallen braves, who lost their lives during the late civil struggle, and in commemoration of Decoration Day. His text was taken from I. Samuel, xxx., 24:

> "But as his part is that goeth down to the battle, so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff, they shall part alike."

The discourse was suggested by the approaching services of Decoration Day. We welcome to the pulpit all subjects which are capable of being set in a religious light. The cause of country and the duties of patriotism have been always closely allied in the history of every nation, to religion, and rightly so.

Reference was made to a visit to the Historical Society in Wisconsin, where numerous battle flags had been collected. They bore the marks of shot and smoke, and there was a secret inspiration in the sight. Who could see those weather-beaten, battle stained standards and not thrill with the passion that once carried them through fiery ranks? On their folds were names which can never die. Donelson and Shiloh; Missionary Ridge, Atlanta and others. They seemed to bring up the past, with full vividness; they mutely appealed to the strongest emotions of the patriot. The same feelings were experienced at the sight of a monument in Cambridge, which represents, in splendid granite, a common soldier on guard—enshrines in bronze the names of the dead sons of Harvard. So it seems well to have memorial days and acts. They touch a deeper sentiment than that for war, or glory; they feed the fountain of gratitude and love of country. We are warned of the cost of true nations life, and moved to a high sense of national trust and duty.

It was in the nature of things that a great memorial day of the last war should spring up. Should it be the anniversary of its beginning or ending—of some one battle or General's name? No, it was ordained that the dead task and life should give the nation its second great holy day. By no forced argument, but from its natural fitness, Decoration Day has grown from simple to grand proportions, as the yearly monument of a grateful people. The strewing of soldiers' graves with flowers, gives this day, solemnity and religious significance. How eminently fit that the bloody strife should be recalled, not with the harsh mirth of victory over misguided brethren, but with a service, the best of all calculated to remind the whole country of national unity and its costly price! By these graves all hatred and uncharitableness will at last be forgotten, and yet the essential principles which conquered stand out there as at no other place, to warn and inspire the national heart. On this day each year what solemn reviews will be made of the past! The proportion of such events is better recognized as year after year passes and gives new standpoints for calm retrospection. Picture this season of the year, ten years ago. How uncertain the tide of events! It was, up to July, a year of reverses to the country. The second great crisis of the war was at hand. We had suffered disasters at Galveston, in Tennessee, at Charleston and Fort McAllister. Vicksburg and Port Hudson, Chattanooga and Atlanta were not yet. Desertion and resistance to drafts, with weakened national credit, caused the scale to tremble. It was the era which ended in the invasion of Pennsylvania and in Gettysburg. Recall if you can the feelings and emotions of those days, at home and in camp. Contrast our present condition—it is hard, to realize a period of any history as eventful—and the wonder will grow with every generation that we were saved through such an ordeal, and that we survived as a united country. As we look back the hand of Providence is distinctly seen in the moulding of days and years of this contest. On this day also, each year what solemn reviews should be made of the present and future! The great practical value of monumental shrines and acts is here. We have ourselves to remind of a high national trust, and new generations to instruct that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. A million men dying for their country is a sacrifice that must not be forgotten. The life of the nation, thus redeemed in blood, must be held doubly sacred to ends of justice and truth.

Patriotism is always a duty—and not more so at one time than another, or in one place than another. The duty in times of peace is as great as in time of war. We have institutions to be preserved and the standard of citizenship to raise. We may apply David's words to the matter of responsibility, "as his part (by duty and reward) is who goeth down to battle so also shall his be that tarrieth by the stuff, they shall part alike." To maintain and uphold what has been achieved for us is the important present duty of Patriotism. We have evils to resist and degenerate tendencies to guard against. Purity in government and elevated principles never needed defenders more than now. The potent forces of education and religion were never more required than now to interfuse truth and righteousness in the community. The conscience of society needs to be stirred, and citizens must grow as jealous of the country's good, always, as they are when their own personal interest is immediately involved. If Decoration Day shall serve these great national ends, may it be honored far and near, for from such buried seed will spring the perpetual Harvest of Life.

COLEMANS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound Extract of Eucalyptus is a preparation combining all the valuable medicinal qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California garden for its medicinal utility, having become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, BLADDER and URINARY CANAL and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more effectually than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and sacule membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy, and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge, and a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys, and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies for those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

THE ART GALLERY OF PORTLAND
(LATE "OPPOSITION LINE")
Corner First and Taylor sts., No. 147

HAVING JUST RETURNED FROM SAN FRANCISCO with a new outfit to replace the one lost in the late fire, I have fitted up a fine suite of rooms, the most convenient in the State of Oregon—only one flight of stairs. The top light is built on the same plan as the leading galleries of San Francisco, together with all the improvements, including Revolving Shades, to produce fine, soft shades on the picture. I will introduce the FLOATING PHOTOGRAPHS something new, and a beautiful style of pictures, also, Porcelain, Enameled Cards, and all the latest improvements of the art.

I would solicit my former patrons, and ladies and gentlemen of Portland and vicinity to call and visit my new rooms and pictures. O. DENNIE, Photographer.

The wiping out, securiti[illegible] [illegible] ary exactly what is now [illegible] [illegible] what is expected to continue ave been separated from the bad. [illegible] "securities" have been disposed of in Europe, but these have amounted to only a small fraction of the good American securities taken there; and the latter, in the long run, will be benefited by the recent Vienna panic. Our Government bonds have declined but little, and even first-class railroad bonds, like Central Pacifics, of which about $20,000,000 are held in Germany, have in all the excitement declined but little, Central Pacifics ruling to-day in Frankfort equivalent to 102¼ here, against 103¼ before the Vienna panic. As to the European money markets, money may still rule higher on the Continent, and balances in London may be withdrawn. To check such a withdrawal a further advance in the Bank of England rate may follow, and we should not be surprised to see the rate put up to 6 ₱ cent. this week, simply as a precautionary measure. On to-day's business the Bank of England lost £[illegible],000 specie. A shipment of gold from here, if not more than two or three million dollars, would protect the London market from possible danger, and would indirectly benefit this market, but even this may not be necessary.

Miscellaneous.

Many of the emigrants arriving bring from $5,000 to $15,000 each, and one brought drafts to the amount of $20,000, and besides which his wife had $10,[illegible] in greenbacks, sewed in her dress. So it will be seen that our average in the financial article is placed very low.

The number of eggs that has been shipped from here to San Francisco, by the three steamships that left respectively May 2d, 9th and 17th, aggregated about 5[illegible],000 dozens, valued at $6,000.

The agents, Messrs Allen & Lewis, for Ankeny's cheese have reduced the price to 14 cents, so as to stop importation of Eastern and California. And aside from this, they expect to export to San Francisco, which has never before been done.

From Mr John R Foster we learn that the wool growers in Umatilla county have agreed not to take less than 20 cents per ℔ for this year's clip of wool. In Douglas county they demand 25 cents per ℔, and if not obtained they intend shipping direct to the east.

The Commercial Reporter says the Republic Life Insurance Company of Chicago contemplates organizing a Branch Office in this city in a short time, with some of our leading men at the head of it. The chartered capital of the Company is $5,000,000, of which $4,500,000 has been subscribed on the Atlantic slope and 20 per cent. paid in. The remaining $500,000 is now being placed on this coast in Oregon, California and Nevada. It is proposed to place $100,000 of this amount in Oregon, among our leading business men of Portland, Salem, Albany etc., the cash paid in on which is to be retained here, together with the premium income from all policies issued by the Company to citizens of the State, and invested among the insured by the managers of this Branch.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship John L. Stephens left San Francisco for this port this morning, with a large freight and passenger list.

The barkentine Free Trade, from San Francisco, has arrived, and is now on her way up the river with a full freight for Portland houses.

The bark W. H. Myers is now loading in San Francisco for this port, and will have quick dispatch.

A new enterprise in the shipment of grain, and one of vast importance to farmers, has recently been inaugurated in San Francisco, by E. H. Morgan & Sons, of New York, who have an agency here. Heretofore the ships engaged in the carrying of grain to Liverpool have all been chartered by Friedlander and one or two others in the business, and the farmers have had to pay whatever th[illegible] saw fit to exact for shipping the wheat. Morgan & Sons have [illegible] arrangements for the inauguration of a system by which farmers who wish to ship less than a cargo on their own account may do so at fair rates. One of their ships, the Blue Jacket, has been laid on for freight for Liverpool, and farmers and others having wheat or other freight to ship will be accommodated by her. Should the enterprise meet with sufficient patronage, a line of ships will be placed on the route by the [illegible] owners.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF PORTLAND. SAVINGS DEPARTMENT.

THIS BANK HAS ESTABLISHED IN CONNECTION with the general Banking business a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT, and will allow Interest on Coin Deposits made in accordance with the conditions adopted by the Association.

In establishing a SAVINGS DEPARTMENT this Banking Association has in view the benefits to accrue to a class of persons having small sums to loan, by providing a safe place of deposit, ample security and fair rate of interest, as well as to aggregate and bring into use idle capital.

For the safety of deposits in this Bank are pledged its entire capital and resources, and also the personal liability of its Directors and Stockholders, as provided by Section 12 of the National Currency Act, approved June 3, 1864, a greater security than that given by ordinary Savings Banks. Printed copies of the conditions upon which deposits are received may be had upon application at the Bank.

STAGE LINES.

COLUMBIA RIVER & PUGET SOUND MAIL LINE.

GEORGE COGGAN, Proprietor.

THE ONLY REGULAR LINE RUNNING BY ARrangement, and in connection with the PUGET SOUND STEAM NAVIGATION CO., N. P. R. R. CO. and O. S. N. CO., between Sound points, Victoria and Portland.

THIS IS THE ONLY STAGE LINE selling THROUGH tickets over these several lines, and carrying passengers on their tickets.

Passengers, by purchasing THROUGH TICKETS save money and trouble, and secure the best conveyances, by the only line by which close connections can be relied on. The small reduction made by so called opposition stage lines cannot benefit THROUGH PASSENGERS, as the local fare over the N. P. R. R. and other lines exceed the reduction made by the opposition.

Through tickets can be obtained in Portland at O. S. N. Co's office; Olympia, at COGGANS' STAGE office, and on board the P. S. S. N. Co's steamers.

OUR AGENTS on trains will take charge of baggage and freight for Stages, in waiting at Tenino.

Buggies, Carriages and other private conveyances can be secured by telegraphing to the Agent at the Stage office at Olympia. N. PIERCE, Agent.

DR. G. G. GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs [illegible] fully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with incr[illegible] facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from vi[illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, [illegible] ted and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies, see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED LIFE.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the [illegible] responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or [illegible] no charge.

OUR D[illegible]

P[illegible] at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars [illegible] letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco [illegible] and [illegible] who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are [illegible] and became too lazy too work at their trades. [illegible] makers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office [illegible], etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight [illegible] out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus [illegible], certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases [illegible] to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.
